DESIGN & CONSULTANCY SERVICES
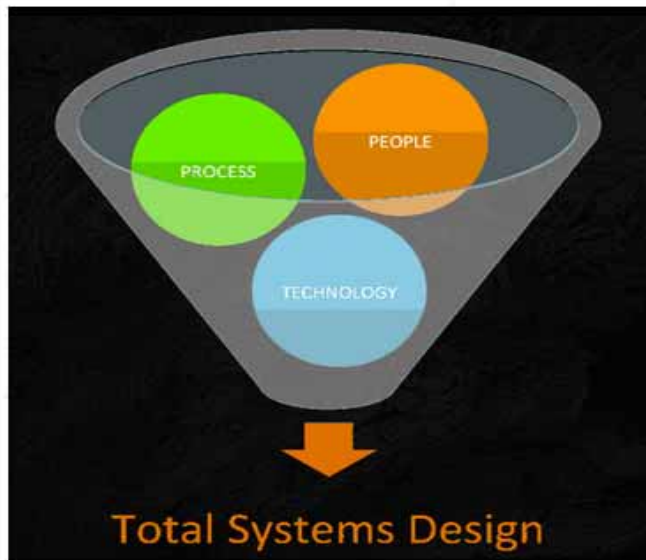

Make the Smooth Transition to New Learning Technologies

In a time of budget cuts and economic uncertainties, you may be worried about whether investing in new learning technologies will yield real business results and have a positive Return on Investment (ROI). At Kydon Learning Systems Institute (LSI) - a leading learning and training consultancy company in Singapore – every learning solution can be adapted and scaled to meet your business objectives. In short, choose what your organisation really needs. This makes our Design and Consultancy services very affordable and flexible. We will partner your HR, corporate or training and development team to implement change management strategies to ensure that every technology-enhanced learning solution will deliver business results. Contact us today.

Why Kydon for learning design and consultancy?

☑ Highly effective learning solutions

At Kydon Learning Systems Institute, we integrate knowledge with the latest pedagogies and learning technologies – to deliver a full suite of design and training consultancy services, ranging from learning needs analysis and design of new learning architecture to curriculum and content development, learning delivery and implementation.

Organisations in need of experienced trainers to deliver the new technology-enhanced training may hire our professional training and development experts on contract basis.

Consult our learning and training consultancy team today on any of these learning needs.